

New Mural

in Perry Hall

local arts

Photos Courtesy of Desiree Ortman Photography

Amanda Gallagher Orthodontics recently added a wings mural on its Perry Hall office building at 9650 Belair Rd. Painted by well-known interactive street artist Kelsey Montague, the mural is part of the artist's #WhatLiftsYou campaign. Kelsey explained that her "murals specifically invite people into a piece and then encourage them to share their experience online." Over 100,000 photos under this hashtag have been posted on Instagram of people sharing themselves interacting with her art!

Kelsey Montague has created over 300 murals across the country and world. Her work has been featured in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Entertainment Weekly, USA Today and on Good Morning America and Country Music Television (CMT), among others. Kelsey has also partnered with a variety of companies featuring her art including GAP, Guess, VANS, Starbucks and Universal Studios.

After discovering and posing with one of Kelsey's murals in New York City, Taylor Swift recently commissioned Kelsey to create a mural in Nashville to promote her recent single "ME!" Not long after finishing that piece, Kelsey traveled to Baltimore and after painting AG Ortho's mural, left for Europe to create pieces in Scotland, Ireland and Paris.

"We strive to always be a positive and uplifting environment for our patients and their families" said Dr. Gallagher. "We are so grateful to be able to share this art with our community and we welcome everyone to visit, take photos and to share!" she added.

Visit @kelseymontagueart and @agortho on Instagram or on FaceBook to learn more and see more of the artist's work.